5. SCOPE OF ACCREDITATION

The scope of accreditation is defined based on listing 39 IAF groups/codes divided into 13 technical clusters as detailed in the table at serial number 17 of this document. UAF may further restrict scope to specific NACE code/IAF Group Code within a technical cluster mentioned in the table in case:

- The CB requests so.
- The assessment in the opinion of UAF, does not allow granting accreditation for a complete cluster. This could be the case when the cluster represents a large diversity of technical subareas, and CB did not demonstrate competence in more than a specific sub-area, or the cluster includes a sub-area that requires specific critical competence that could not be demonstrated by the CB.

- The applied IAF Codes/Scopes, including critical codes.
- Key locations and other operational non-key locations.
- Countries in which UAF-accredited certificates may be issued.
- Existing accreditation by other Accreditation Bodies.
- Other certification or conformity assessment activities carried out by the Certification Body
- Other relevant details provided in the application.

12. ASSESSMENTS

- Document Review
- Initial Office Assessments
- Witness Assessments.
- Remote Assessments
- Scope Verifications during extraordinary circumstances.

13. INITIAL ASSESSMENTS

The assessment extent and content depend on the requested scope of accreditation, the other activities for which the body is accredited or requests accreditation and the performance of the body at previous assessments, if applicable.

The assessment consists of the following activities:

- Document Review
- Office assessment
- Witness Assessments

An application for initial accreditation or extension of scope should at least include each of the following:

- Details of terminology and technology specific to the technical area.
- Statutory and regulatory requirements applicable to the product or service specific to the technical area.
- Characteristics of products, services and processes specific to the technical area.
- The provision of externally provided processes, products and services.
- The impact of organization type, size, governance, structure, functions and relationships on developing and implementing the OHSMS, its documented information and certification activities.
- Description of the OHSMS system documentation regarding OH&S certification, including clarification of countries and the geographical areas the CAB is seeking accreditation for.
- Determination of the competency criteria (knowledge and skills) related to the identified OH&S aspects per defined technical area and IAF codes and for each function involved in the OH&S certification process.

During the initial assessment, the policies and the procedures implemented by the body are assessed at their office(s). The assessment team makes specimen files of certification staff for every activity to screen the service for the scope of accreditation. At least one certification personnel for each certification function for each IAF code/group and one auditor per IAF code/group requested shall be reviewed completely for award of accreditation of scopes subjected to witness completion in that particular IAF cluster as per the requirements of IAF MD 17.

14. WITNESS ASSESSMENTS

The Certification Body (CB) shall be subject to witness assessment of its ISO 45001 certification activities as part of initial accreditation or extension of scope.

Generally, at least two weeks prior to the witness assessment, the CB shall provide UAF with the following information and records:

- Records of the CB's contract review for the selected organization, including qualification and competence records of the auditors and technical experts assigned.
- A copy of the ISO 45001 certificate issued by the CB, where a surveillance or recertification audit is to be witnessed.
- Where the CB is already accredited by an IAF Full Member Accreditation Body, previous witness assessment reports may be considered subject to review. In such cases, UAF may verify the authenticity and validity of the witness reports directly with the issuing Accreditation Body. This verification is procedural in nature and does not imply any concern regarding the CB's operations or prior assessments.
- The report of the CB's document review, pre-assessment or readiness assessment (or the most recent assessment report), together with the audit plan.

For the minimum number of audits to be witnessed, the requirements of IAF MD 17 shall apply. The following may be considered in deciding the number of witnesses and selection of witnesses during surveillance and reassessment:

- The CB's overall performance.
- IAF MD 17
- Factors such as process complexity or legislation influence the certified organization's ability to demonstrate its ability to meet the intended outcome of the MS.
- Feedback from interested parties, including complaints about certified organizations.
- The results of the CB's internal audit(s).
- Scheme owner requirements, etc.
- Change(s) in CB work patterns – work growth within a specific region or technical area.
- Number of clients within the CB's scope of accreditation.
- Confidence in the CB's auditor evaluation and approval process.
- Previous or other office or witnessing assessment results, etc.

In addition to the above criteria for selection of audits to be witnessed, UAF may also consider the following:

- UAF will normally avoid witnessing auditors who have already been witnessed for the same scheme.
- UAF will normally avoid witnessing audits at the same organization.
- UAF will review the CB's audit report as part of the witness assessment.
- To enable selection of audits for witnessing, the CB shall, upon request, provide audit planning information for a defined period. This information shall include, as a minimum:
 - Type of audit (initial, surveillance, or recertification)
 - Name and address of the auditee

- Audit standard(s)
- Scope of certification
- Names of auditor(s) and technical expert(s)
- Date(s) of the audit

15. SURVEILLANCE AND REASSESSMENTS

The surveillance assessments of the Certification Body's ISO 45001 certification activities shall normally be conducted annually or as defined in the assessment program, or earlier where justified by the assessment team based on identified risks, changes, or performance concerns. The duration and scope of surveillance assessments shall be determined through a risk-based assessment program, considering the volume, complexity, and maturity of the ISO 45001 certification activities.

The number and type of witness assessments during surveillance shall be determined in accordance with the assessment program in line with IAF MD 17, accreditation standard requirements and UAF-PL:2019-07-01 — UAF Policy on accreditation scopes & witnessing activities for accreditation of management system CB. Witnessing decisions and number of witnesses may vary considering the outcomes of certification file reviews, sector complexity, use of technical experts, and changes to personnel or processes.

During each surveillance assessment, UAF shall verify the continued effective implementation of the ISO 45001 certification scheme, including compliance with ISO/IEC TS 17021-10 and applicable accreditation requirements.

Certification files reviewed during surveillance and reassessment shall be selected using a risk-based sampling methodology. The sampling approach may consider:

- Number of ISO 45001 certificates issued since the previous assessment
- Organization size, complexity and other factors
- Levels of risk
- Use of ICT or remote assessment techniques
- Previous nonconformities or complaints

The files reviewed during subsequent surveillance and the reassessment within four years (accreditation cycle) shall comply with the requirements of IAF MD 17. The number of files selected may be increased where higher risk is identified. This is approximately one quarter of the square root of the number of certificates, with a maximum of 18 files and a minimum of one file. The number of files to be reviewed may increase depending on risk-based parameters detailed in the assessment program.

Where applicable, witness assessments may be planned to cover multiple schemes (e.g. combined audits with other standards), provided that it ensures adequate coverage of ISO 45001 specific competence and assessment objectives.

Applying the above guidelines shall consider whether witness assessments may serve multiple schemes (e.g. through witnessing combined audits) and how such witness assessments are performed in other schemes. The accreditation cycle will be for four years, and the reaccreditation assessment should be carried out at least four months before the accreditation expiry. The assessment plan will be listed in the assessment program and updated as required.

16. SCOPE EXTENSION

The assessment by UAF in case of an application for an additional scope cluster consists of one or more of the following assessment methods:

- Documents and records review.
- Verification of documents and records and interviews of relevant staff during a visit to the office of the CB.
- A witness assessment in the technical cluster as per UAF's witness policy document in line with IAF MD 17 requirements.

At least the defined requirements for competence in that technical cluster, records of the qualification process of auditors for that cluster, and a complete certification dossier in that cluster will be verified in the scope extension assessment.
